

SOME NOT SO SURE OF SINGLE BLISS

Eligible Bachelors Start to Waver

What happened to those ten highly eligible Pottstown bachelors who the past January stepped fearlessly into the spotlight to report their honest views on Leap Year? Are all ten still smiling smugly at the woe of husbands? Hah! A survey yesterday of the ten bachelors showed that the one who was thankful for the fall, and that at least two more bachelors could easily be described as not very far from falling.

The other seven are, however, going to finish the remaining three months of Leap Year without coming close to matrimony. They think.

The ten expressed their forthright views on Leap Year in a feature story in The Mercury, the past Jan. 26.

ONE OF THE ten, Francis J. Powell, 66 South Charlotte street, conceded yesterday that The Mercury is partly responsible for his being "just a little bit nearer" marriage than he was.

"That story—how shall I put it?—well, it sort of brought me out of the fog," he said.

Powell maintained that after the story appeared a Lonely Hearts club endeavored to sell him a lifetime membership. He said he declined.

Powell said he thought he could finish out the year still a bachelor. The past January, he said that the only way to remain a bachelor was to be able to say "no" in every language except Japanese. Yesterday, he added, "I'm learning Japanese now."

The nine remaining bachelors are, he said, paying close attention to the condition of the one who took the plunge early the past Summer.

—John D. Katch, 293 Hale street.

POWELL DECLARED solemnly that he thought the caught Katch is getting a little bit gray around the temples.

Katch denied the implication firmly. "I think I've had a very happy experience," he declared. "All my comments are affirmative. I've been lucky enough to get somebody who appreciates my meager talents."

What's more, Katch said, he recommended matrimony to the others.

A bachelor who seems much less confirmed than he was eight months ago is 28-year-old Melvin R. Schurr, Douglassville RD 1. "I'm getting closer," he said. "I'm going fairly steady now."

Would he be another Leap Year casualty? "Well," Schurr said, "I don't think I'm that close."

THIRTY-YEAR-OLD Francis J. "Frank" Lucas, Elverson RD 1, an order analyst for Firestone Tire and Rubber company, seemed to be only slightly more unwavering than Schurr.

Lucas, after giving long and serious study to the question of his future as a bachelor, issued this press release: "As of Monday, (Continued on Last Page)

New Contract Is Drawn up By Engineers

Pottstown's Bethlehem Steel company Draftsman's Guild, Local 97, American Federation of Technical Engineers (AFL), ratified a new contract at a special meeting last night and will submit it to management today.

If approved the new contract will go into operation immediately after management officials sign it and will run until June 30, 1954. The wage agreement in the contract runs only until June 30, 1953.

Alexander Downie, president of the local, has been acting as chairman of the negotiating committee in conferring with management at the Pottstown plant and at the company's central office in New York City.

More than 50 members of the local attending the special meeting last night at the Labor Lyceum, 28 South Charlotte street, approved the measures of the contract.

Bible Revision Celebration Is Set for Tonight

Protestant churches of Pottstown will meet at 8 o'clock tonight to celebrate what has been described as "the most important religious event of the century"—dedication of the new Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible.

The inter-church meeting, to be held in Emmanuel Lutheran church, will be one of 3000 such community celebrations throughout the country.

Emmanuel Lutheran, the largest Protestant church in Pottstown, holds 700 people in its auditorium. If the crowd tonight exceeds its capacity, amplifiers in the Sunday school rooms will be turned on so that those unable to get in will still be able to hear.

The crowd is expected to be large, as 27 churches are participating.

A procession of the Protestant clergy, each in the garb of his own church, and presentation of the new Bible to five representative citizens will be features of the program. An anthem by the choir of Emmanuel Lutheran also is scheduled.

Theme of the service is, "The Word of Life in Living Language." The Rev. W. Everett Griffiths, pastor of First Baptist church, Norristown, will deliver the principal address, using the theme as his topic.

HAILED AS the "greatest Bible news in 341 years," the celebration marks the completion of years of work by outstanding Bible scholars.

The King James Version, authorized in 1600 and completed in 1611, has enjoyed more support in the years since it appeared than any other translation, but the new version already has the support of most of the Protestant community.

The King James Version was entirely the work of English scholars. The new Revised Version is entirely the work of American scholars.

The Revised Version is a revision of the American Standard Version of 1901, which was a revision of the King James Version. Copyright of the new work is held by the Division of (Continued on Page Five)

With only three months of Leap Year remaining, two of Pottstown's most eligible bachelors prepare to stand off Cupid's last ditch drive on them. Waving Cupid away is Francis J. Powell, 66 South Charlotte street, a secretary for Doehler-Jarvis corporation. He conceded that The Mercury feature story of the past January, which set forth his Leap Year views and those of nine other apparently confirmed bachelors, has done at least a little to bring him in greater danger of matrimony. At left, Melvin R. Schurr, Douglassville RD 1, a time study man for Doehler's, Schurr is one of two bachelors who definitely is wavering. A third one of the ten already has fallen.

Adlai's Challenge Taken, Ike to Tell Financial Facts

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today accepted Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's challenge to bare his personal financial position.

Just when the Republican presidential nominee will do so was not announced.

His headquarters said it was unlikely the statement would be ready before he left for Columbia, S. C., tomorrow on the first leg of an 8000-mile campaign tour that will take him to the West Coast.

Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, yesterday reported that his own gross income for the past 10 years totaled $500,046 and that he paid Federal taxes of $211,890 on it.

HE HAD put it up to Eisenhower to match his action by declaring all candidates for high office should disclose their personal financial condition dating back over a period of years.

James C. Hagerty, the General's press secretary, said he did not

Beef Lovers Enjoy Slightly Lower Prices

Pottstown's beef eaters are consuming a little more these days at no extra cost.

Prices of beef steak, chuck roasts and hamburger have dropped and are expected to remain 10 to 20 percent below ceiling prices for the next several months.

One borough grocer said beef steak is down from five to ten cents a pound.

He explained there is a "tremendous" amount of beef on the market, but attributed the price decrease to the surplus of beef each Fall.

PORK PRICES have shown mild decreases, a seasonal trend caused by a market surplus.

Boneless chuck has been reduced to 79 cents. Hamburg in many stores is below 60 cents and boneless sirloin steak is selling for $1.39 a pound, with a ceiling of $1.60.

A second borough grocer attributed the decrease to the law of supply and demand. He said there are a number of grass cattle or range fed cattle on the market now.

This beef is cheaper than beef which will be sold in a few months because it was fed on grass. Later beef will be corn-fed.

Minister Arrived at Hotel In Paris on a Motorcycle

BY ED ZUMACH (Mercury Staff Writer)

Many a member of Pottstown's First Presbyterian church would have laughed long and heartily a few weeks ago if they had seen their pastor's arrival at his Paris hotel during a two-months' tour of Europe.

Seated comfortably at home last night after debarking from the French liner 'Liberte' yesterday with his mind crammed with nostalgic memories of the Old World, the Rev. A. Burtis Hallock Jr. described that arrival chuckling.

"There was a mix-up when the boat train pulled into France and my baggage didn't get off with me," he said. "I told the travel agent about it and he was going to call a taxi, but I saw his motorcycle and said I'd like to ride in with him on that."

"I didn't have any baggage, so it could be done. And I hopped on the back of the motorcycle. You should have seen the French door-man's expression when we rode up!"

THAT IS one of the lighter memories he has of his trip, the 46-year-old pastor said. His other memories, he added, are those of the picturesque mountains and shoreline of Italy, the scenic wonders of Switzerland and the fascination of the famed Edinburgh, Scotland, Music festival.

"I think I found Italy the most charming and the place I think I would like to return to the most," the Rev. Hallock said. "The beautiful mountain and seashore spots (Continued on Last Page)

Schools to Give Music Courses

Pottstown elementary schools will offer free instruction in any band or orchestra instrument beginning Monday, it was announced yesterday.

Classes will be held during the school day on a rotation schedule so that children will not have to miss any of their regular school work during the week.

The band instruments will be taught by Lester F. C. Smith, Senior High school band director, and William J. Schintine, Junior High band director.

Mrs. Bertha Maraffie, supervisor of elementary music, will teach stringed instruments.

School authorities reported that music adaptability tests have been given to all Fourth, Fifth and Sixth graders. Letters of application also (Continued on Page Five)

Bids Sought On Hospital In Borough

Pottstown hospital board of directors unanimously passed a resolution last night permitting local contractors in the Pottstown area to bid on the hospital's new estimated $2,000,000 building program.

"We don't want to overlook any local contractors who can do the job," A. C. Seawell, hospital administrator said.

Seawell said the project will call for the demolition of a portion of the old building on the south side of the hospital and construction of a 100-bed wing in its place. The contract also will include the enlarging of the nurses home and school.

Seawell anticipated the working specifications for the bid will be available on or after Oct. 15.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT of this year's $22,500 United Fund allocation to the hospital was made at last night's meeting. This is $7000 higher than the past year's allocation.

The board also approved the recommendation of the medical staff to destroy all medical records older than 25 years.

Seawell said the records which date back to 1890 are "taking up too much space."

Among new members of the medical staff approved by the board last night was Dr. William C. Waltemyer Jr., The surgeon, a graduate of the Temple university medical school, interned in Harrisburg and took post-graduate work in surgery at the Lankenau hospital, Philadelphia.

Fire, Accident, Fight are Tops In Tip Contest

A fire, an accident and a fight were the items that won prizes yesterday for newspaperists in The Mercury's weekly contest.

Mildred Wright, 40 Scott street, Penn Village, won first prize of $5 for a prompt call about a fire that broke out in the new housing project being built just north of Penn Village.

Second prize of $3 was won by Mrs. Richard Lawrence, Pottstown Star Route, for a tip on an accident in which the driver swerved to avoid an oncoming car, blew a tire on the shoulder of the road, then skidded back into the collision he'd tried to duck.

Charles Templin, Stows, won third prize of $2 for a tip on a brawl touched off when a youth assaulted a policeman outside a barroom.

ALL THREE of these prize-winners remembered an important point: that any time of any day or any night is the right time to phone The Mercury (6000). They phoned early, phoned first.

But don't wait for a fire, fight or accident to happen. The contest judges have proven repeatedly that they're eager to give cash awards to the little human items about such things as children and pets.

Knights Templar March Sunday

White-plumed knights of Nativty Commandery 71, Knights Templar, will participate in the 12th annual outdoor religious service of Division 3, Norristown, Sunday.

Members of the silver and gold division of the Nativty Commandery will join an expected 200 uniformed knights from Division 3 in the march from Masonic temple, Norristown, to Roosevelt field, for the service.

Approximately 20 knights from Pottstown will be in the line of march. Commander of Nativty Commandery Wayne J. Leister will not attend. He is vacationing in Florida and Texas. Among commandery officers in the line of march will be Kenneth Lessig, generalissimo, and W. Ford Sand, captain-general.

The service and parade will last approximately one and one-half hours. Knights will march back to the temple after the service.

Besides the 200 uniformed knights, an estimated 200 will march without uniforms.

In the event of inclement weather, services will be conducted in a centrally located church.

Trucks Crash, Drivers Unhurt

Drivers of two trucks escaped injury yesterday afternoon when their eastbound vehicles were involved in an accident at 3:40 o'clock on Route 422 in Lower Providence township, a half mile west of Trappe.

Thomas W. Richardson, 20, of night, laid plans for activities to be held both in Pottstown and away from town, and for months ahead as well as for the more immediate future.

Zion's Reformed church troop 5 discussed their participation in the Scouting Fair, to be held this month on the Devon horse show grounds, Devon.

The Fair consists of booths containing displays of scoutcraft, various troops in the area set up, and of demonstrations of scout activities.

Richardson's truck struck the left rear of the State truck. Only the right front fender and grille of the State truck was damaged. The Miller estimated the damage at $125.

Spiritual Readiness Needed For Survival, Rabbi Says

That world conditions today require spiritual preparation for survival was expressed by Dr. Emil Schorsch, rabbi of the Mercy and Truth synagog, to his congregation during the Yom Kippur service yesterday morning.

"Mankind stands at the threshold of tremendous happenings as upheld by four of my observations," he said.

The observations which the rabbi used to substantiate his prediction included the human conquest of the air, which he said was turning the earth into one large living room.

The unleashing of atomic power, which has given man the means to destroy the earth, was

Court Hears Arguments In Erie Assessment Case

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 29 (AP)—Justices asked searching questions as the Pennsylvania Supreme court heard arguments today in a case involving higher tax assessments for 52 of Erie's larger industrial plants.

The case was appealed by the city of Erie after Hammmill Paper company won an Erie county common pleas court equity case against imposition by the city in 1949 of an additional $2,516,280 assessment on machinery.

This new assessment brought Hammmill's total in Erie to $5,365,500, or almost double the previous amount.

Fifty-one other companies also found themselves facing enhanced assessments and the Hammmill litigation is regarded as a test case affecting them all.

More than 150,000 people work in the Pennsylvania coal industry.

Down UM, 13-7

Jayvees Win Opener

Following the good example set by their varsity brothers, the Pottstown High Jayvees scored a 13-7 victory against Upper Merion in their first game of the season.

With fullback Carl Burns leading the Trojan ground attack, coach Ed McGee saw his team come from behind in the third quarter to complete Pottstown's domination over the Spartans.

Although Burns scored his team's initial touchdown in the second period, it was Paul Stofko who rammed over from the one for the deciding tally.

Fumbles by the Trojans gave Merion a chance to penetrate deep into Pottstown territory early in the game, but to no avail as the locals always held.

Early in the second quarter, however, a Spartan passing attack that was helped along by some "bouncy" pass defense set up a UM score. Twice passes were batted up into the air into the waiting arms of end Will Otis who took the second reliever to the Trojan 1-yard line. A quarterback sneak registered the touchdown, and the same Otis took a pass from fake kick formation for the conversion.

Burns scooted 60 yards on the first play after the kickoff and after a 15-yard penalty set the Trojans back to the 30. Burns reached the one on a pitchout from Josh Sovo. A line play and a pass failed, but Burns swept left end for the score.

TOM TROUTMAN'S extra point try was wide.

The half ended with the Spartans one point ahead.

Fumbles by both teams stymied third period drives but Stofko started the Trojans goalward by intercepting a pass on the Pottstown 40 and running it back 15 yards.

During the drive that moved the ball to the UM 1-yard line, Burns reeled off a 20-yard scamper. Sovo lost a yard on a fumble and Wayne Hughes, in at quarterback, regained it with a sneaker. On the next play Stofko knifed over from the one.

Troutman's kick was good this time.

The Spartans pierced deep into the Pottstown end of the field late in the game, but Dave Dunn and Burns collaborated to intercept a pass in the end zone to end the trouble.

Big Turnover In Managership

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—Their ranks depleted alarmingly, the surviving members of the major league managerial club in 1952 will return to the helm next Spring with one exception.

The sole exception, of course, is Billy Meyer, who waited until the next to last day of the regular season to resign as pilot of the last place Pittsburgh Pirates.

Reynolds, Black to Start Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—Relief man Joe Black of Brooklyn and Allie Reynolds, New York Yankee ace, will be the opposing pitchers Wednesday in the World Series opener at Ebbets Field. Both are righthanders.

Manager Chuck Dressen of the Dodgers followed up his weekend hints by definitely selecting the 25-year-old Black (15-4) who worked in 36 games during the National League season. He will be the second relief pitcher to start a series opener.

After watching Black warm up for about 10 minutes in a Yankee Stadium workout, Dressen turned to newsmen and said, "That's my pitcher." It wasn't until some time later, while talking to reporters, that Black learned he had been tapped.

Casey Stengel's announcement on Reynolds was almost automatic. The big Indian chief (20-8) drew almost every important assignment during the season. He has been Stengel's opening choice in three of his four straight World Series.

The odds still favored the Yanks by a little better than 8 to 5 in man to man betting. The Yanks were also the 6 to 5 choice to win the opener behind the fire and cunning of 34-year-old Wahoo.

Dressen and Stengel were most co-operative with the press, listing their first three pitchers through Friday's Yankee Stadium opener. In the second game it will be Carl Erskine (14-5) for the Brooks against Vic Raschi (16-5). When they move to the Yankee park for the third game, it will be two lefthanders with Preacher Roe (11-2) for the Dodgers and Eddie Lopat (10-5) star of the 1951 series, for the Yanks.

There was some second-guessing of Dressen for naming his relief ace to start. Eddie Sawyer did the same thing with the 1950 Phillies, losing a 1-0 game with Jim Konstanty who had worked 74 regular season games.

"I want to get all the work I can out of him," said Dressen in way of explanation. "He wins I can start him again. Anyway, I can use him on relief."

Asked what he would do for relief in case Black has trouble, Dressen said, "If it's the ninth, and a certain kind of hitter (lefty) is up there, I'd go for Roe. Otherwise it probably would be Billy Loes or Johnny Rutherford."

Down the stretch, Black has been a standout pitcher for the Dodgers. Dressen started him in Boston and he won with a complete game effort. Saturday he started him again in a final tune-up but Black was wild and was hit freely. "He needs plenty of work," said Dressen. "One only time they hit him good all year was when he had lots of rest."

Black probably will have little rest in this series. He may even match the late Hugh Casey's performance of appearing in six of seven games in 1947. That is, if it goes that long. The pick here is the Yankers in six.

Managers Carl Furillo of the Dodgers and Gene Woodling of the Yanks, were expected to shake off injuries in time to make the starting lineup.

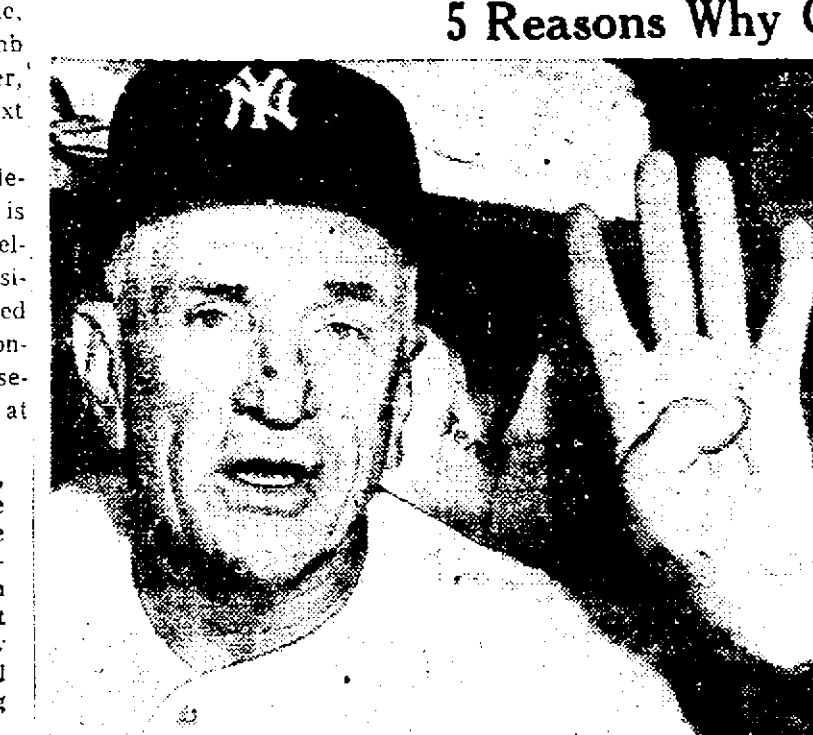

There seems to be little doubt that both will start. However, in case Furillo feels he can't grip a bat and take a good cut, Dressen will bring in lefthanded swinger Carl Shuba. Woodling's replacement, as it was all last week, will be Irv Noren, the ex-Washington star who finally has started to click for the Yanks.

Dressen listed his batting order as follows: Billy Cox, 3b; Pee Wee Reese, ss; Duke Snider, cf; Jackie Robinson, 2b; Roy Campanella, c; Andy Pafko, lf; Gil Hodges, 1b; Carl Furillo, rf, and Black.

"I don't know my batting order yet," said Stengel, who used 98 different combinations en route to a record-tying fourth straight pennant.

5 Reasons Why Casey May Be Wrong

Manager Casey Stengel, of the New York Yankees, holds up four fingers after being asked by baseball writers how the Brooklyn Dodgers will be taken in the coming World Series.

Pairings Announced For Last Tournament

The last important tournament of the season will be held at the Brookside Country club next weekend.

It is the 36-hole scotch foursome meet for the Ann Hartenstine and John Leveille trophy.

Pairings and starting times for the Saturday matches were announced yesterday. Although the pairings will remain the same on Sunday, starting times will be arranged among the competing four-tomes in each party.

Partners will play one ball, taking alternate shots. Each will hit off the tee every other hole. Handicaps will be added together in figuring the scoring.

GILT-EDGE GIL

GIL McDOUGALD

One of the smartest investments the N. Y. Yankees ever made was signing up San Francisco sand-lotter Gil McDougald. He started paying dividends his first season up—no fan will ever forget his 1951 Series grand-slammer.

Gil is a sound investor himself. A small investment in "Prestone" anti-freeze each fall keeps Gil's car safe all winter. "I use 'Prestone' anti-freeze because I know I'm protected, no matter how cold it gets," says Gil. One shot of "Prestone" brand anti-freeze lasts all winter. No other anti-freeze gives you the same complete protection! You're set, you're safe, you're sure!

Cross Country Season Opens

The Pottstown High cross-country team will open its season this afternoon with a meet at Berwyn.

The thin clads of Coach Bill James have four other meets before the Ches-Mont championships being run this year, Oct. 23, on the West Chester State Teachers college course.

With several returning let-termen, James is anticipating a better season. The coach is a guidance counselor in the Junior High school.

The only home meets will be Friday afternoon, when Boyertown comes to town, and Oct. 16, the final dual meet competition against West Chester.

Other away dates are Oct. 6, at Coatesville, and Oct. 10, at the Hill school.

Noble Wins by KO

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—Billy Noble, ex-University of Nebraska football player, knocked out Chicago's Phil Sanderson tonight in 1:21 of the second round in a scheduled eight round contest in Rainbo Arena.

Noble, 185½, buckled the knees of the Chicagoan with a hard right in the crucial round and then put him away with a left hook.

He had previously defeated Sanderson, who weighed 174½, by a six round decision last January in Rainbo Arena.

CHES-MONT TEAMS SPORT GOOD NON-LOOP RECORDS

Pottstown High will be traveling in swift company this year once it plunges into Ches-Mont league competition. Members of the two county loop have been pushing around non-league opponents with merry abandon in warmups for the playoff games.

In nine games with outsiders, CM teams have lost but once. That was West Chester's defeat two weekends ago to Lancaster.

The much publicized scholastic grid powers of Philadelphia have a comparable achievement standing only theirs is written in red ink. Thirteen times Public and Catholic league teams have tried their talents against suburban teams, in and out of the State, and just to prove it isn't completely unlucky, they won one game.

Coatesville is pacing the "grapefruit league" standings with a perfect 3-0 record. They have been running up sizeable scores, a good indication they have a strong attack.

Pottstown ranks next on its two victories over Lansdale and Upper Merion. The Trojans could further embellish the league's reputation with a victory over Norristown, Oct. 9.

Downingtown, Berwyn and Phoenixville all have one victory to show in their lone independent games. Downingtown, the past year's league champ, opened Saturday with a 7-0 win over Wilmington. Coach Howard Caskey's team plays Upper Merion next Saturday—here's our first chance to do some long-distance comparing and decide in early October who will win the Thanksgiving game.

BERWYN is leading the league by virtue of its opening game victory over Bridgeport, but Bridgeport bounced into the win column on Saturday by beating West Chester, 13-6. On early showings, West Chester looks to be the team most likely to get pushed around.

The Phantoms of Phoenixville made a surprisingly strong showing in passing a 25-7 loss on Howard High of Wilmington. Coach John A. Hubiesak uncovered a sleeper in Junior Howard Ralston, a 145-pound speedster who rolled up 124 yards in 17 carries. More bad news for league opponents is that big Jim Horn's knee has held up and his blocking played an important part in the Phantoms' win over a more experienced Howard club.

The aches of the Upper Merion game have been soothed within most of the Trojans, but fullback Howie Bedell and co-captain Bob Sutton still feel the effects.

Sophomore Bedell had a toe dislocated in the third quarter of Thursday night's game. It was snapped back into place in a hurry, but the soreness lingers on. The two-week layoff looks mighty rosy when realizing that Howie's sore tootsie may still be tender all this week.

Sutton is hobbled by a bruised leg, but the rest is sure to have him in top shape against Norristown.

Another of the weekend casualties who has fully recovered is captain Fred Kerlin who was hospitalized after Norco's battle with Collegeville the past Friday night. At first it was believed Kerlin was suffering a concussion, but further observation revealed shock was the cause of his hazy condition.

HE WAS OUT for practice with coach Al Brown's forces yesterday as the team prepped for its next outing, Oct. 9, with Boyertown here. The Wildcats' 6-6 showing in the Collegeville opener seems to have boosted the team's stock and three more players reported for uniforms yesterday.

Brown certainly started on the right foot with a fine show of sportsmanship. One of his first acts after checking the condition of his players—and they were a tired bunch of 'Cats—was to go to the Colonels' dressing room and personally congratulate coach Bob Hackman and his entire squad.

A report from the Penn State-Purdue game comes from State alumnus Bill McCabe who witnessed the 20-20 buster.

Sam Green, the linebacker all Trojan linebacksers will be compared to if they show signs of greatness, started on defense for the Nittany Lions and more than held his own. He also goes in on State punting plays because of his speed in getting down under the kicks.

Don Shank, of Norristown fame in the Green era of a few years back, was also a starter for coach Rip Engel. Shank was a tackle and fullback in high school, but now works at an offensive guard spot because of his fine blocking.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

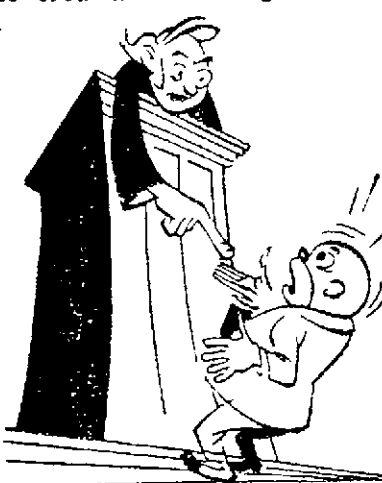

WHEN young Jeb Crowther, down Louisiana way, tried stealing chickens from the coop of Judge Wilkins himself, and was caught red-handed, he discovered that the Judge was not inclined to take the matter lightly. In fact, the indignant administrator slapped a twenty-year sentence on him. "But, Judge," wailed the shaking accused, "I've got the miseries and I ain't liable to live that long."

"That's all right, Jeb," snapped the Judge. "Just do the best you can."

Corey Ford tells about the skeptical old party in Woodstock, Vermont, who discovered that her old neighbor had quietly visited a beauty shop in Boston and acquired a new coiffure. "Land sakes, Emma," cackled the old party, "what you been doin' to your hair? It looks like a wig!"

"As a matter of fact, admitted Emma, it is a wig."

"Lordy me," sighed the old party, "I'd never have know it."

Pottstown's Finest

Hope for the future lies in Pottstown's schools. The Mercury is publishing pictures of Pottstown's finest, the children in our schools. Every day a new room of school children will be shown here. Save the series, and enjoy them anew in future years.

This group of Sixth Grade pupils at the Washington school look as though they can answer any questions on the "three R's" which is also shown by the approving smile on teacher, Mrs. Ruth F. From left to right in the second row are Janet Griesemer, Toni Mariano, Emerson Bealer, Paul Atkins, John Mauger, Gary Kauffman and Gale Swinehart. Row three, in the same order, shows Wesley Grow, Jerry Pollick, Benjamin Frederick, Judith Seavers, Patricia Pollock and Judith Umstead. ## President of Bank To Attend Convention

Frederick G. Erb, president of the Citizens National Bank and Trust company will leave for Seattle, Wash., Sunday where he will attend the bi-annual convention of the United Lutheran Church in America.

Erb, the only delegate from Pottstown, was elected by the Norristown conference to attend the week-long convention scheduled to begin Oct. 8.

Accompanying Erb to Seattle are the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Luther A. Krouse who are going to the convention as special representatives of the Emmanuel Lutheran church. They are being sent by the congregation.

Dr. Krouse was a delegate to the church convention held in Des Moines, Iowa, two years ago, and also four years ago when it was held in Philadelphia.

"We had about 2000 bags sold at ten cents a bag by Friday night," said Charles F. Feagley, chairman of the two-day sale, last night.

"We ran out of peanuts by early Saturday morning. We started about 2:30 Friday afternoon. Some of the men took off from work to do it."

The sale will net the club "about $150" when the cost of the peanuts is deducted, Feagley said. And that sum, he added, "far exceeded our expectations."

The sale, conducted by the local group in observance of National Kids' day, will be expanded next year, Feagley said. The committee has decided among other things that we'll just have to have more peanuts next year.

Britain's Eden Plan Attacked by Italians

STRASSBOURG, France, Sept. 29.—Italian members of the European Consultative assembly today attacked Britain's "Eden plan" which aims at putting agencies of European unification under one roof.

The Italians, ardent Federalists, declared the British plan set up too loose a structure. Led by Giuseppe Caron, they filed a series of crippling amendments to the Eden plan motion introduced by British Conservative Julian Amery and French Socialist Guy Mollet.

The Amery-Mollet motion laid down a detailed pattern for connecting a continental confederation with other member-states of the Council of Europe such as Britain.

Caron assailed the Amery-Mollet motion as a cause of "misunderstanding." He predicted the plan would give rise to confusion in trying to align assemblies with confederative status and those with real deliberative power.

Sept. 28, 1952, A. D., I am not married."

Pottstown Patrolman William A. Mars was one of the firmer ones. "I managed to duck," he reported. He said, "I'm just as far away as far. No prospects in sight."

Mars said that during the present political campaign the orators have been promising something to everybody except the bachelors. Mars suggested a tax reduction "After all," he said, "we bachelors pay higher taxes than anybody."

LESS MERCENARY than Mars was the political attitude of bachelor William R. Hinton, 307 Chestnut street. He suggested that the politicians promise bachelors "a two-weeks vacation at a women's resort."

Of Leap Year, Hinton reported, "Still single, still going strong, haven't gained or lost any ground."

Bachelor Thomas F. Farrell, Elm Knoll, Burdett drive, was more specific than Mars about tax relief. He said he thought the bachelor should get an extra deduction—the other one being for the Dream Girl, presumably.

He reported, "The status is quo," and when asked whether he would be a bachelor when Leap Year ends, replied, "I'm afraid so."

EDWARD SWEENEY, 476 North Charlotte street, reported, "No change. About the same. I'll finish the year out." He showed the most realistic approach about what politicians should promise bachelors by saying that the promises wouldn't be worth anything anyway.

"Still the same," was also the revealing comment made by Stanley F. Berger, 1224 High street, who reported happily that there were no prospects of changing his status in any foreseeable future. But there's one of these unwed for of the Allies in World War II, stalwarts in Pottstown who, he said, there seemed to be plenty brave enough to admit that if some of money, clothes, automobiles and dairy female mornel came his way, he's not going to turn her down.

Rev. Hallock Comes Home

The minister visited Florence, Rome and Naples in Italy. Edinburgh and London in Great Britain; Paris, France, and Geneva, Switzerland, during the trip, which "I've wanted to make for a long long time."

Pastor Hallock's trip was financed through a cash gift from his congregation in 1950 when he observed the tenth anniversary of his pastorate.

He could not take the trip that summer, he said, because of his late wife's illness. Mrs. Hallock died the past November as a result of her lengthy ailment.

BECAUSE of the scheduled trip, the Rev. Hallock said last night, "my congregation gave me an extra month's vacation this year. Usually I have only one month."

The minister sailed from New York the past July 29 aboard the same liner on which he returned to that port last night. During two weeks in London he toured the sprawling city with the nephew of the Rev. Arthur H. Simpson, Park court, as his guide.

The Rev. Simpson is pastor-in-charge of the First Presbyterian church. The nephew, Raymond Foxley, and the Rev. Hallock toured London afoot. But though "we walked up every street in London, I think, and saw everything on our feet, it was a marvelous experience," the minister said.

"I was very much impressed by the old churches of England and heard some very great preaching there," he added.

Of the economic situation in Europe, the Rev. Hallock noted, "The winner seems to be the one the worst off, at the present moment."

HE REFERRED, he said, to who reported happily that there were no prospects of changing his status in any foreseeable future. But there's one of these unwed for of the Allies in World War II, stalwarts in Pottstown who, he said, there seemed to be plenty brave enough to admit that if some of money, clothes, automobiles and dairy female mornel came his food."

"I was very much amazed," he continued, at the hardships the British people still are experiencing because of the war. They, the hardships, are unbelievable to us. The people are very brave and very proud while the other countries are enjoying plenty of everything — sorry, we don't give things "phone numbers."

The 4-year-old son of N. Scott Fiddinger, Pine Forge, suffered a cut forehead about 7 o'clock last night as Fiddinger swerved suddenly on Rattlesnake Hill road when a yearling doe ran into the left front fender of his auto.

The boy, whose name was unobtainable last night, fell against the radio in the auto's dashboard. Fiddinger reportedly told Berks county District Game Protector Joseph Leindecker, Reading.

Leindecker said Fiddinger told him the car almost was off the road before Fiddinger braked it. When the startled Fiddinger investigated he found the doe had been killed.

He summoned Leindecker through Berks County Justice of the Peace Charles E. Templin, Stowe. The game protector said he believed the doe died of internal injuries and that probably a broken

THE DEER'S CARCASS will be given to a charitable institution in the county, Leindecker said. He added that the antlerless deer's death was "a good thing," because there "are too many on the highways. They're a menace."

Many passengers in autos struck by deer, the game protector said, are injured seriously. Leindecker said the fact the antlerless deer are such a hazard is one reason why the State conducts a special hunting season for them.

are the most popular cuts of beef among Pottstown's industrial populace.

If this year's trend proves normal, beef prices will remain below ceiling for several months, possibly to mid-Winter.

If the supply of beef increases and the demand remain steady prices probably will drop a few cents more.

Any change between supply and demand in which supply increases out of proportion to demand probably will mean price decreases.

Grocers emphasized the decrease is a normal seasonal fluctuation.

US to Hand Over Hildale to County Authority

28 in Area Pay Gambling Levy of $250

Twenty-eight Pottstown area organizations and individuals have paid the special $250 Federal tax for the use of coin-operated gambling devices.

This is an aerial view, made yesterday, of Hildale homes project in Lower Pottsgrove township, just southeast of the borough limit. The Federal Government, which owns the land and apartments, announced yesterday it is giving up the project. It will offer the entire project as an outright gift to Montgomery County Housing authority, which then will have to decide whether it can afford to continue the project or whether it will have to be evacuated. There are 176 families—an estimated 650-700 people—living in the project now. Hildale was built nine years ago as "temporary" housing for war workers. Because of the post-war housing shortage here, the Government delayed its original intention to have the project torn down at the end of World War II. Complicating Hildale's none too bright future is the fact the State is demanding that a second means of exit from the second floor apartments be installed in 27 units.

in Italy and the happiness of the people all made me love the place very much."

The minister visited Florence, Rome and Naples in Italy, Edinburgh and London in Great Britain, Paris, France, and Geneva, Switzerland, during the trip, which "I've wanted to make for a long time."

Pastor Hallock's trip was financed through a cash gift from his congregation in 1950 when he observed the tenth anniversary of his pastorate.

He could not take the trip that summer, he said, because of his late wife's illness. Mrs. Hallock died the past November as a result of her lengthy ailment.

BECAUSE of the scheduled trip, the Rev. Hallock said last night, "my congregation gave me an extra month's vacation this year. Usually I have only one month."

The minister sailed from New York the past July 29 aboard the same liner on which he returned to that port last night. During two weeks in London he toured the sprawling city with the nephew of the Rev. Arthur H. Simpson, Park court, as his guide.

The Rev. Simpson is pastor-emeritus of the First Presbyterian church. The nephew, Raymond Foxley, and the Rev. Hallock toured London afoot. But though "we walked up every street in London, I think, and saw everything on our feet, it was a marvelous experience," the minister said.

Of the economic situation in Europe, the Rev. Hallock noted, "The winner seems to be the one the worst off, at the present moment."

HE REFERRED, he said, to Britain, which still has rationing and whose people are undergoing continued hardships. In Italy, a foe of the Allies in World War II, he said there seemed to be "plenty of money, clothes, automobiles and daily female morsels come his fond way."

"I was very much amazed," he continued, at the hardships of the British people still are experiencing because of the war. They (the hardships) are unbelievable to us. The people are very brave and very proud while the other countries are enjoying plenty of everything — sorry, we don't give things, I noticed a great interest of the people in talking to Americans," he said. "Everywhere, I went I found people most anxious to talk to and help Americans."

He said he "purposely stayed away from Americans so I could get to know the people and as a result I feel I really know the countries."

"I certainly hope to go back again and as often as possible. It's a thrilling experience to visit those countries," the pastor declared.

AN UNUSUAL experience of the trip, the minister asserted, was talking by radio-telephone to a member of his congregation, Mrs. Thomas A. McCaslin, 644 High street, in the middle of the Atlantic ocean.

Mrs. McCaslin, Mrs. S. T. Nicholson Jr., 642 High street, and two other women were enroute to Europe when the call was made. Mrs. McCaslin knew her pastor was scheduled to be homeward bound aboard the "Liberte," so she telephoned him.

"One of the ship's officers said the 'Nieuw Amsterdam,' the ship Mrs. McCaslin was on, was not very far away, only 400 miles, but I certainly thought it quite a distance," the pastor said.

From the exuberance displayed by the Rev. Hallock last night, it would not be surprising if his first post-vacation sermon this Sunday is studded with religious instruction based somewhat on European life.

Whether or not his sermon will have a European touch is uncertain, but definite it is that Rev. A. Burtis Hallock Jr. will not arrive for services on a motorcycle.

The old saying, "Your Senior year is the busiest year of your school days," is true in the Seniors in the Commercial department at North Coventry High School.

To begin with, it is our duty to act as secretary for two weeks in school office. This practice started the past year when our regular secretary moved to the new Elementary school building.

At that time there was only one pupil in the office each

History Classes Examine Tools of Primitive People

By LEO ASSEO

The North Coventry Seventh grade history and geography classes under the direction of Miss Lane, have gotten off to a good start.

The geography classes are studying the United Nations while history classes have begun with the Stone Age and primitive people. A few tools believed to have been used by primitive people have been brought in, and pupils are busy testing them. These implements include stone axe heads and tools for grinding corn and grain.

The Eighth grade geography classes, also under Miss Lane's direction, are studying hunting and fishing. Along with this they are making physical features maps with either corn starch or flour and salt.

Miss Lane's and Mr. Miller's eighth grade American history classes are studying explorers and early American colonies. Mr. Miller is one of North Coventry's new faculty members.

Allied Youth Hold Fund Raising Dance

A square dance was held in the high school auditorium Monday night. The dance was sponsored by "The Allied Youth," a temperance organization.

The admission charge was 25 cents. Proceeds from the dance will go into the Allied Youth's treasury.

The dance was well attended.

The president of the North Coventry's Allied Youth is David Lemons. Its director is Stanley Springer, a teacher at North Coventry.

Tenth Graders Study Writings of O. Henry

By JOHN HOROSKY

At the beginning of the year, the Tenth grade was given workbooks. We discussed various radio and television programs, by which we came to a variety of conclusions covering commercials.

We are now studying some selections from our literature books. We are learning about the authors, such as William James and O. Henry, who have written some clever short stories.

We also have learned that a short story is a single fictitious situation.

Both teacher and pupil are enjoying the stories.

History Group Hears Program of Music

By the light of candles and with roses and carnations perfuming the air, members of the Pottstown Historical society last night heard a program of 17th and 18th century music.

Music was provided for the 230 members present in Pottsgrove manor by Raymond Elliott and his trio. Soloist for the Fall meeting was Freda Schindler.

Members inspected ancient pieces of furniture which have been donated to the society during the past several months.

Reports were made by Isaac Thomas, chairman of the library committee, and Mrs. C. C. Burdian, chairman of the flower committee. Mrs. Henry Colbach resigned as chairman of the house committee and was replaced by Mrs. Jacob R. Sotter.

Twenty new members were admitted to the society to swell membership to 1050. The society is one of the largest in the state.

Pottstown GI Honored As Outstanding Soldier

Pfc. Frank Jobeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jobeck, 120 South Price street, recently was awarded a certificate for being an outstanding soldier.

The award was presented to him for exceptional performance, devotion to duty and exemplary military bearing while a member of "D" company, 17th Armored Engineer battalion, now in Germany.

Prior to enlisting in the Army in December, 1950, Pfc. Jobeck was employed by the Doehler-Jarvis corporation. He attended Pottstown schools and was a member of the Trinity Evangelical Congregational church.

Assistants Assigned To Help Librarian In Activity Periods

By SHIRLEY EACHUS

Since the library is especially busy this year, our librarian, Mrs. E. Clark, has two secretaries and two library assistants, who work in activity periods. The secretaries are Mary Yocum and Ruth Leyrer. The library assistants are Mary Ann Kowar and Arlene Richards.

The library has not received any new books this year, but a long list of books are now on order. Some new books came in the end of last year including miscellaneous biographies, also Junior and Senior High fiction.

In order to have the library open every period so the pupils can do reference work, a teacher will be there all the time. Mrs. Clark will be in the library the third, sixth and seventh period. The other teachers take turns in the library the remaining periods.

Since this is the first year the library has been open every period, more teachers are giving reference work.

Mrs. Clark, who also coaches the Senior class play, said the play committee has been made and they expect to come to a decision about the play within the next two weeks.

The play committee includes Gloria Carr, Janet Weiss, Theresa Brown, Paul Pontz, William Collins and Rodney McMullin.

9 New Typewriters Available for Pupils

By JEAN ANN KEPNER

This year our typing room under the supervision of Mrs. M. K. Machamer is equipped with nine new typewriters, purchased by the school board.

Among other instruments available for pupils use in the typing room are: "Ditto" machine, mimeograph, calculator, mimeoscope, and adding machines, which are much help to the bookkeeping class.

The typing room is always filled with busy pupils preparing stenographs for the "Norco News," our school paper. The equipment is also used for printing tickets, menus, examinations and programs.

Woman Is Still Spry On 104th Birthday

ELIZABETH N. J. Sept. 29 (AP) — If you think you're getting old when you puff a little going upstairs, take a leaf from the book of Mrs. Angelina Rauson, who was 104 years old today.

The tiny, spry old woman worked off and on as a vegetable picker on neighboring farms until the age of 98.

She still get around, does all the shopping for her family, goes to mass every day, has a big appetite and drinks buckets of coffee.

Mrs. Rauson lives with her 71-year-old son, Thomas, at 321 Center street, along with her descendants down to two great-grandchildren.

Off to the Wars

These two local cuties are waving "so long" because they're showing off for the WAFS tomorrow. Jane Cisarik, 18, of 5 Riverside avenue, Kenilworth, (left) and Julia Lockowitz, 19, Fairview street, Stowe, look mighty happy as they prepare to embark on "travel and jobs" with first stop at Lackland Air Force base, Tex., where the girls will take basic training. They enlisted in Philadelphia on Sept. 19.

A particularly convenient bedroom, and second-story window boxes are highlights of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Plantieri at 1425 Queen street. Most of the shrubs around the house were planted by them. ("We have a half-acre of ground and we're trying to fill it up," Mrs. Plantieri reported). That low television antenna is for a small set in the bedroom, which is downstairs behind the window at right. In the window boxes below the dormer windows are geraniums. The house was built about five years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Plantieri have lived there for 2 1/2 years. The brick is multicolored, from buff to rust to blue. Downstairs with the bedroom are a living room that is 14 by 20 feet and that has a redbrick fireplace; a dining room, kitchen and bath. Upstairs are three bedrooms and a bath. The porch at left is enclosed the year around. The garage is at the rear, on the porch side. The basement walls and floor are painted but not yet finished into a room. Plantieri is a partner in Plantieri and Miller, music machine firm. In the front yard with him are his mother-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Mackin, Winter Park, Fla., and his two children, Linda, 2 1/2, and Charles Jr., 4.

Obituaries

Services for EDWARD CORUM, husband of Mary Corum, 629 WALNUT STREET, were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Second Baptist church.

Officiating was the Rev. Haywood L. Butler, pastor of the Second Baptist church.

Interment was made in Oakgrove cemetery, Parkerford.

Bearers were Norman Howard, Edward Derrick, Charles Clifford, William Elliot, John Brown and William Jeffries.

Nine Persons Enrol To Attend Meeting of Rotary International

LONDON, Ky., Sept. 29 (AP)—Robert A. Taft said today General Dwight D. Eisenhower "stands for the same kind of government as I."

The Ohio Senator, who lost the Republican presidential nomination to the five-star General, addressed a crowd estimated at 5000 from the traditionally Republican Eighth Congressional district.

Taft assailed the present national administration for "waste and high taxes" and asserted, "it is now getting to where we must ask the Government everything, where once we had freedom." And he added, "Your take home pay is less than it has been because the Government is now taking more and more of your income."

Taft Sees Eye to Eye With Ike on Government

Those who have definitely planned to attend the entire convention are Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Heise, president of the club; Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Missimer, secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Lester R. Daub; Alfred H. Haas; and Nottle and his wife.

Daub will serve on the golf tournament committee of the convention on the opening day at the Berkleigh Country club course near Kutztown. He is the only member of the Pottstown club who is serving on a committee at the convention.

230 Pupils Attend Grade, High Schools in Upper Pottsgrove

Upper Pottsgrove township has 230 pupils attending primary and secondary schools this year.

Supervising Principal John B. Ferdinand told school directors last night there are 149 children enrolled in the four-room consolidated school in the six grades.

Eighty children are attending Pottstown Junior and Senior High schools. One pupil has enrolled at Boyertown.

Dr. Mahel Kessler of the county superintendent's office, Norristown, will supervise intelligence tests to first graders today.

Dental examinations have been completed. First, Third and Fifth graders await physical exams.

The State has granted approval of the milk program at the school which permits children to purchase a half pint of milk for four cents instead of the customary six cents.

THE BOARD voted to purchase a duplicating machine and a number of work books to go with the machine.

Secretary Harry W. Overholzer at 460 degrees below zero Fahrenheit reported all members of the board present.

CIO Union Files Suit Against Harvester Plant

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—The rival of the Red Cross Bloodmobile CIO United Auto Workers union at the YWCA Thursday, he added, today filed suit for one million and thought he would contribute dollars against International Harvester company charging contract violations at the company's Melrose Park plant near Chicago.

The plant has been struck by the union for eight weeks in a disagreement over work classification formulas.

The suit charges that Harvester has refused to give 1250 strikers paid vacations, and has hired 385 donors are needed to fill the 150 foremen to do work which would normally be done by the men on Southeastern Pennsylvania chapter strike.

A company spokesman said Harvester comment on the suit might be made later today.

Area Man Registers 99th Pint of Blood

These mystery novel detective heroes have nothing on Ira J. Russell, Graterford, when it comes to losing blood.

Perhaps some of the better-known private eyes have spilled a few quarts, but Russell claims to have seen 49 quarts leave his body!

The only difference between the detectives and Russell is that the former's blood usually ruins someone's Persian rug while Russell's fills bottles and eventually ends up in some needy person's body.

Russell has been donating his blood to hospitals and through the Red Cross since 1936, he said yesterday. He says The Mercury's announcement of the scheduled arrival of the Red Cross Bloodmobile at the YWCA Thursday, he added, today filed suit for one million and thought he would contribute dollars against International Harvester company charging contract violations at the company's Melrose Park plant near Chicago.

497 Memberships Gotten by YMCA So Far in Campaign

At the close of the second week of the current three-week membership drive of the Pottstown YMCA, 497 new and renewed memberships have been written by the committee conducting the campaign, it was announced yesterday.

Twenty-seven members of the campaign group met last night at 6:30 o'clock for dinner in the YMCA auditorium to hear the returns before the drive enters its third and last week.

A team of four men led by Harry A. Lord succeeded in gathering the largest number of members in the drive for the drive for the second week in a row. Edward Levensood, a member of his team, signed up 27 members himself to help the team acquire 58 new and renewed memberships.

Levensood and Lord were awarded two tickets each to the 1952 World Series games. Others on the team were Milton B. Sailer, Edward W. Jameson and Dr. Gustave W. Weber.

JOHN H. LONGAKER, Pottstown attorney who was the principal speaker at the affair, compared the World Series baseball games with the YMCA organization—both are traditional.

He said the World Series games are traditionally American just as the YMCA organization is traditional in any community it serves.

"The Pottstown YMCA is traditional because the finest men in Pottstown have been members of it," he said.

Then he added, "Whenever there is a tradition in anything it is worthwhile."

LONGAKER URGED the committee members to go out and get more members. He told them that they had something which would sell itself.

The membership drive committee was notified last night that the meeting to be held at the YMCA Monday night would be the last of the current year's campaign. Final reports of the drive will be made then.

Young Man Collapses On Street, Cuts Chin

A young Pottstown man was treated for cuts of the chin at Pottstown hospital last night caused when he collapsed on High street, between Hanover and Penn. William Reintner, 21, of 348 Chestnut street, was administered first aid by William Tosta and Hiram Keim. Good Will ambulance drivers, prior to being taken to the hospital.

Four sutures were required to close the wound before Reintner was discharged from the hospital.

2d Duty Tour Is Started at Valley Forge

Col. Kenneth A. Brower, 45-year-old former commander of Valley Forge Army hospital and until recently the commander of the Tokyo Army hospital, began his second tour of duty at Valley Forge yesterday morning.

A native of Oklahoma, the colonel previously had been at the hospital from August 1945 through June, 1950. He was in command at the time the hospital was ordered closed prior to the Korean war.

He was selected to command the huge Army hospital in Tokyo during the most critical period for UN forces in Korea.

His assumption of command at Valley Forge yesterday followed by one month the retirement of Col. John M. Welch. In the interim the hospital was administered by Col. John G. Knauer, chief of the Medical Service.

COL. KENNETH A. BROWER

ILLNESS PREVENTED Colonel Brower from assuming his duties the past Sept. 1 as scheduled.

An officer in the Army Medical Corps since 1930, the colonel served 24 months in the European theater during World War II and had been executive officer at Brooke Army hospital from May, 1946, to July, 1948.

For outstanding performance as commanding officers of the 34th Evacuation hospital during combat in Europe, he received the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star and the French Croix de Guerre with Palm.

The Oak Leaf cluster to the Legion of Merit was awarded him for his service at Tokyo Army hospital.

The colonel is married and the father of two children, Philip, 17, a senior at Norristown High school, and Wileta Anne, 12, a seventh grader at the Schuylkill township school.

DEMOCRATS —

For auditor general of Pennsylvania, will join Bard. Both she and Bard will speak.

John D. McAvoy, Democratic county chairman, said at last night's rally this year's registration in the county was one of the heaviest in history.

He pointed out the heavy registration indicates a heavy vote and added, "It's axiomatic, the larger the vote the larger the Democratic victory."

ATTORNEY CARROLL L. RUTTER reminded Democrats of the past 20 years and asked campaign workers to operate on this theme when they approach the electorate.

All 20 committee men and committee women were present.

Among those present was Sallie Miller, veteran worker of the Seventh ward, and Dr. J. Elmer Porter, former burgess and Pottstown's Mr. Democrat.

The next rally will be held on regular meeting of the union will be Monday night at the Labor scheduled prior to the next rally. Lyceum.

SCOUT PLANS —

activities given in the arena.

Scoutmaster Wesley Nichols outlined to the scouts his plan for quick mobilization of the troop in case of emergencies.

The scoutmaster calls four scouts by telephone, who quickly contact the other scouts in the troop. In this way each boy is reached and told the place of assembly in the shortest possible time.

The plan is scheduled for a trial run at the next meeting.

SCOUTS OF St. James Lutheran church Troop 18 worked on Indian headaddresses to be worn at the ceremonies on Oct. 27, the night of the troop's membership roundup and covered dish social for parents. Also scheduled is a troop bulletin board to be used for the display of trophies won by the troop.

The troop will take part in the annual pilgrimage of all Lutheran-sponsored troops to French's woods near Collegeville over the weekend, where they are developing a clearing into a campsite.

Other Lutheran troops invited to Emmelenburg for Scout Day are Emmanuel Lutheran troop 8, and Grace Lutheran troop 15.

Leonard Yerger, scoutmaster of troop 15, led his Scouts on a camping trip to French's woods near Collegeville over the weekend, where they are developing a clearing into a campsite.

AT LAST NIGHT'S meeting in the church basement the Scouts were given instruction in nature study by Thomas Shaner, who recently completed a course on the subject at Camp Delmont.

Five older Scouts from Grace Lutheran church have been transferred to American Legion troop 1, where they will join the Explorer Crew. This leaves room in the troop for younger Scouts in the area who may wish to join.

The troop's Green Bar council of leaders will meet tonight to plan future activities.

First Methodist church troop 4 discussed detailed plans last night for the troop's participation in November's get-out-the-vote drive. Scoutmaster David R. Williams said two streets will be assigned to each troop in the troop's territory. The two scouts will each be in charge of four cub scouts, who will deliver the cardboard liberty bell reminders to each householder along the streets.

Training courses in first aid last night were in charge of Assistant Scoutmaster Dan Pettigrew, who demonstrated the triangle and roll bandages.

Future events for the troop are the hike over the Devil's hump Oct. 11 and a Halloween party to be held Oct. 27.

Michael Horvat, former cub Scout from pack 62, was accepted by the troop last night as a prospective tenderfoot.

of the jobs under the jurisdiction of the local for the purpose of merit increases in pay.

3. Three weeks vacation for 15 years service.

4. Six paid holidays per year. Men who work on the declared holidays will be paid double time.

5. Reclassification of jobs.

6. Change of pay days from twice each month to every other month.

7. PROVISIONS FOR a union shop with checkoff. Under this condition, new employees must agree to join the union within a specified time and the employer must make provisions to collect dues out of its employees' salaries.

8. Reopening for wage increases May 1, 1953.

Downie announced that the next regular meeting of the union will be Monday night at the Labor Lyceum.

Rare Bibles Displayed

Mary A. Mertz, parish secretary of Emmanuel Lutheran church, holds one of the rare Bibles on display in the lower church hall.

Miss Mertz and the Rev. Dr. Luther A. Krouse, pastor, arranged the display in connection with the inter-church meeting at Emmanuel tonight to dedicate the new Revised Version of the Bible. Historic English volumes as well as German, Hebrew and Greek versions of the Scriptures are on view.

BIBLE REVISION —

Christian Education of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, for the purpose of insuring the purity of the text.

The committee which prepared the new version represents 38 Protestant denominations which have been working together since 1937 on the project.

THE SCHOLARS working on the New Testament section completed their work in 1945, and a ceremony was held to introduce it in Columbus, Ohio, in 1946. The Old Testament section was completed in 1951, and tonight's service will celebrate the completion of the entire Bible.

Purpose of the new version is to recover the original text of the Bible for the English reader, through the use of recently discovered original manuscripts, to preserve the tradition of the simple classic style of English usage and to restore the English Bible to its proper central place in all phases of Protestant church life.

MUSIC COURSES —

have been sent to all parents.

THOSE INTERESTED in enrolling their children in this program are urged to return these applications immediately. School officials said additional applications can be obtained from head teachers of each school.

In most cases, parents will have to supply instruments for their children. Various purchase or rental plans were outlined; outright purchase; rental-purchase, whereby charges paid for rent can be applied to the later purchase price; and school loan.

The schools announced that they have a few flutes, clarinets, saxophones, baritone, French horns, and basses available to be loaned at a small rental fee each semester.

School rental will be limited to two semesters with a few exceptions. The fee will be used to keep instruments repaired and to make more instruments available.

Applications for the loan of a school instrument must be made in writing on forms available from head teachers or the administration office.

It was announced that applications for enrollment and instrument loans will not be accepted after Oct. 26.

Chester GOP Organization a 'Foul Ball,' Democrats Told in South Coventry Rally

A quartet of speakers attacked the Republican county organization.

At a rally in South Coventry school, near Bucktown, sponsored by the Young Democratic club of Northern Chester county, Roy Shutes, retired auto dealer of near Spring City, called the GOP in the county a "foul ball."

"They have hurt their own people and have hung themselves with this reassessment program in Chester county," he said. "They have taken away the rights of the people. If you don't catch this foul ball you are missing a good bet."

Dr. LaRue Frain, Birchrunville professor of economics at the University of Pennsylvania said, "I'm thoroughly fed up with the national party, but at the same time I'm just as active for the Democrats in Chester county."

"Things have gone above party consideration. The reassessment issue in Chester county will corral good votes."

THE ADMITTED reassessment in the county was needed but called the manner in which it was carried out "atrocious."

Harry C. Symons, candidate for Representative in the Second district two years ago and professor of economics at Ursinus college, said, "Voters of Chester county have never heard nor had a report from those people who went into office, especially to State Senate and the General Assembly."

The ironic part of the campaign at present is that the Republican candidates don't have an educational background."

Mrs. Janet P. Whitney, campaign chairman, also was present.

12 Americans Attend Peiping Peace Parley

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP) — Twelve or more Americans are reported attending the Communist-sponsored Asian and Pacific Peace conference in Peiping.

State department officials who are keeping tab on the reports said that the Americans most recently reported by the Peiping radio as present included John William Powell, Shanghai-born editor of the China Weekly Review, and his wife, Sylvia Campbell Powell, formerly of Pendleton, Ore., and Louis William Wheaton. Officials said it is not certain whether Wheaton's wife, Tomoko Ikeda, was born in San Francisco of Japanese origin, accompanied him.

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By IRV ROLLMAN

BETWEEN sunset and sunrise, when the street lights are lit, William H. Solomon, 507 State street, has a job that keeps him busy while most of Pottstown is wrapped in its blankets. Solomon is one of the men who turn on the lights at night.

From sunrise to sunset, Solomon keeps himself busy with a lot of other work -- around the house. A lineman most of his life, Solomon has kept himself well occupied with work on the job and off. A 16-hour day is nothing new to him. If anything, it is his daily schedule.

Solomon is one of four men who maintain the power substation of the Philadelphia Electric company on South York street. His job is to keep the maze of dials and meters under constant observation and to maintain the high tension circuit, which is broken down from a heavy load for commercial and home use. In addition, he operates the master control which turns on the street lights.

During the hours that he is not working at the substation, Solomon has plenty to do at home to keep him busy. He raises flowers, fruit and vegetables and has 500 chickens. The fruit and vegetables he raises for himself, but the chickens are raised as commercial poultry.

Tending all these is a big enough job for a man who has nothing else to do, but for Solomon, these chores are just part of his normal day. "I like to work," Solomon says. "I like to see things grow and see the finished product. I get a big thrill out of seeing the fruit bloom and ripen after I've been working on it for a long time."

Solomon has always worked long days. Earlier, as a lineman, after he had put in a full day's work, Solomon would return home to work another eight hours or more at home. The more he worked, the better he felt, he says. The full schedule had become a part of him very early in life.

Even while attending school in his native Philadelphia, Solomon filled his out-of-school hours with work. In the mornings and evenings when he attended the Morton McMichael school there, he worked as a butcher, butchering, wrapping orders and delivering. He worked as many as 12 to 14 hours a day and still went to school.

After a year at West Philadelphia High school, Solomon quit school and continued working for the butcher until about the beginning of 1920, at which time he took a job making false teeth. Six months later, he was steeple-jacking. Following that he worked at house painting.

In 1921, at the age of 16, Solomon went to Kulpmont as a ground hand for the Pennsylvania Edison Electric company. He learned his trade as a lineman and remained with that company for five years. He returned to the Philadelphia area as a lineman with County Gas and Electric company at Wayne, and one year later Solomon went to the Millville, N. J., Electric Light company.

After three years with that company, Solomon came to Pottstown as a lineman with the Philadelphia Electric company. He worked as a lineman here until July 25, 1940, at which time he was burned in a mishap which cost him his right leg and laid him up for eight months. The accident happened on a routine job near the post office.

The accident only served to remind Solomon that he must work that much harder. In 1941 he was back with his company working in the shop in Norristown as an appliance service man. The following year, he was transferred to the substation at Cromby where he remained until about five years ago when he was transferred to Pottstown.

In his own words, his job is to "maintain a constant flow of current out of the plant with the minimum of interrupted service." Ordinarily, the job is not a difficult one. But Solomon usually finds things humming when the weather begins to act up.

"The job is biggest during a storm," he says, "that's when everything seems to happen. Lightning may cause an overloaded line or the storm may cause damage to knock out service."

Solomon likes shooting and for years was an avid hunter. But last year, for the first time since he was 15 years old, he missed a hunting season. He found it a little to rugged going for his leg. However, at 47, he is in the best of health and his full schedule is agreeing with him.

CALVIN J. CRESSMAN, 109 Lindberg avenue, South Pottstown, is a man who has followed in the footsteps of his father. Upon the retirement of W. O. Cressman in 1931, he took over the job as vocational director of the senior high school. Now he is in his second year as head of the shops.

Calvin J. Cressman

Cressman who received his master's degree in vocational education from the University of Pennsylvania four years ago, worked at a variety of jobs. But like his father, he preferred teaching and he has been at it on and off since before World War II.

Following the last war, Cressman began teaching in the veterans' school at the Senior high school as an instructor in electrical theory. He helped set up the electronics course there and succeeded George Kjellman as head of the department when the latter took over as head of the veterans unit. In September of 1946, Cressman began teaching electricity and electronics in the day school.

Cressman was born in Allen town Nov. 2, 1916. He attended school in the Lehigh county seat up to the fifth grade.

When his father took over as head of the high school vocational department in Pottstown, Cressman, then a hiker for the departmental organization in the schools here, decided to accompany his father commuting to Pottstown. After that the family moved to Pottstown, and the younger Cressman graduated from the high school in 1934.

For the next four years Cressman studied electrical engineering at Michigan State college. During the summers he was in college, he attended courses at Villanova college, West Chester State Teachers college and Millersville State Teachers college in order to be qualified to teach. Electrical engineering jobs were hard to come by in those days and Cressman wanted to be prepared for more than one job. The first job he came up after graduation in 1938 was a job teaching in Lehigh. Cressman was hired, put in an empty room and told to establish a shop course for the school. It took about a year to get organized. But the following two years were pretty good teaching years. Cressman recalled.

In 1941 he returned to Pottstown and took a job at Jacobs Aircraft Engine company to widen his background in shop work in order to qualify for vocational certification. Cressman remained with Jacobs until February, 1944, when he was drafted. In Allen town he asked for and got the Navy.

Following his boot training at Sampson Naval Training base in New York, Cressman was sent to Navy pier in Chicago for training in as an electrical technician. After finishing the year-long course, Cressman remained there as an instructor in radar. He was discharged in May 1946 as an Electrical Technician 1st class.

Two months later Cressman began teaching in Pottstown's veterans program. The following September he was taken on as a regular teacher. Cressman enjoyed his work in the veterans school. He found the older men easier to work with and more willing to learn.

"The veterans were adults," Cressman said, "and were much more receptive to instruction. They were a group who came here to learn because they wanted to learn."

Cressman is active in local organizations. In addition to belonging to all the teachers' organizations, he is a member of the Pottstown Kiwanis and is faculty adviser of the Kiwanis-sponsored Key club at the high school. He is secretary of the Norco Grange and a member of Phi Delta Kappa, honorary scholars' fraternity.

Cressman is an electronics man at heart. In his spare time he has built equipment at home for his own use and some for use in his teaching. At the school some of his classes have built equipment which the school uses. They recently finished a Geiger counter and an oscilloscope.

No Pastor Picked Yet By Pulpit Committee Of St. Paul's Church

St. Paul's Reformed church pulpit committee has not yet selected a new pastor. It is reported that the regular meeting held in the church on a recent night.

The committee has been visiting various Reformed churches in the Philadelphia area to hear pastors recommended to it by the synod.

In the meantime, St. Paul's pulpit is being filled by the Rev. Michael R. Schmidt, acting as supply pastor. The Rev. Schmidt resigned as regular pastor the past July 27. He is still the regular pastor at St. Vincent's Reformed church, East Vincent.

The Rev. Schmidt served five and one-half years as regular pastor of St. Paul's.

THE PULPIT committee was given a list of five pastors from which to select their new minister. Thus far the group heard three of them preach during visits it made to the pastors' present churches.

Members of the pulpit committee include Wilson Christman, Donald Sands, who are also elders of the church.

Other committee members are Frank Gross, Arlan Millard, Mrs. Daniel Albright, Mrs. Earl Webb and Mrs. Edward Heimbach.

Mrs. Joseph Fazeakas, 408 Berks street, Stowe, smiles proudly as she holds her 1-year-old granddaughter, Deven Ann Endy. The little girl seems delighted to have such a young, attractive grandparent. Mrs. Fazeakas is 36. At the right is Mrs. Fazeakas' daughter, Mrs. James R. Endy, 417 Glasgow street, Stowe. She is the mother of the child.

A Glutton For Work, She Feels Just Fine

Anyone who doesn't know Mrs. Joseph Fazeakas, 408 Berks street, Stowe, would think the 1-year-old girl she often takes for a stroll in a carriage is her daughter.

One would never guess that the attractive 36-year-old woman is the grandmother of the child.

The little girl is Deven Ann Endy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Endy, 417 Glasgow street, Stowe.

"I'm glad I was married when I was young," Mrs. Fazeakas said. "I want to see my children grow up. And my grandchildren too."

Mrs. Fazeakas' daughter, Deven, 21, is the proud mother of the new generation.

The young grandmother has two other children at home: Isabelle, 19, and Rodney, 10.

EVERY MORNING she gets up at 6 o'clock to pack lunches for her children and husband. Breakfast begins at 6 o'clock for her husband about 7 o'clock she has her morning meal and then between 7:30 and 8 o'clock her daughter and son eat.

Then comes a host of duties in the kitchen. She cleans the room and begins preparation of the evening meal. It's hardly a matter of opening a can of beans and frying a couple of hamburgers. Mrs. Fazeakas sometimes spends hours in the morning preparing roasts and baking. "It's work but I get a lot of satisfaction when I see my family enjoys the meals I cook."

Dinner is an occasion at the Fazeakas household. "It is the only time the whole family is together and can talk without having to rush out of the house," Mrs. Fazeakas said.

"My husband, Rodney, and I begin dinner at 5 o'clock and we're still at the table at 6 o'clock when Isabelle comes home. Sometimes she comes home later but we usually still sit there and wait for her because we don't like to see her eat by herself."

IN BETWEEN preparing meals and cleaning up after, Mrs. Fazeakas is busy keeping her house spotlessly clean.

"I work every afternoon doing my housework except Wednesday," she declared. "That's my day off. The day I go visiting or just walk around town."

"I think a woman needs a day off from housework now and then no matter how much she enjoys it. It's good for her."

The cooking and baking and the work Mrs. Fazeakas does to keep her home spic and span would be enough to keep any other woman with less energy fully occupied, but the vigorous young grandmother still finds time for other social and community affairs.

She is an active member of St. Gabriel's Catholic church. A member of the special affairs social committee of the church, she often bakes for the group.

When the church makes its annual collections in her neighborhood she has a territory assigned to her to solicit parishioners.

ALSO KEEPING HER occupied is her membership in the social committee of St. Gabriel's church; cub pack and in the West Pottsville Parent Teacher association.

Which Is Which?

At a quick glance, it would be hard to tell which of the two older girls in this picture is the grand mother, as Mrs. F. Hartline (left) now 70, of 507 North Evans street, poses with her daughter and 3-year-old granddaughter. This Pottstown "Granma at 36" says working and dancing is the perfect combination for retaining a youthful spirit and looks. Mrs. Hartline became a grandmother when daughter, Mrs. Joyce Herb, 22, of 395 Farmington court, presented her with little Dorothy Margaret at the age of 18. An employee at the F. Leone Tire and Rubber company plant, Mrs. Hartline works the 3 to 11 p. m. shift in the head department. "But she still has plenty of time to go to dances and can she cook," says daughter, Joyce. Too busy for any hobbies, Mrs. Hartline spends most of her spare time entertaining her married children who often stop in to taste Mama's cooking.

Grandma Is Just Grandchild

Her Son Has 5 Grandmas; Count Them!

Talk about longevity and young grandmothers! It may be a little complicated, but if you'll follow closely, this story of a Royersford family tree may throw some light on both subjects.

The youngest Mrs. Lillian Bortman, 58, wife of Philip H. Worsnup, North Fourth avenue, Royersford, believed to be the youngest grandmother in Twin Boroughs, she has four children of her own, ranging in age from four to 20 years.

Her own grandmothers still live. They are: Mrs. Laura Bortman, 90, of 407 Queen street, Spring City, and Mrs. Lillian Knox, 85, of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Worsnup's mother, Mrs. Stella Bortman, also of 407 Queen street, Spring City, celebrated her 66th birthday Sunday.

Mrs. Worsnup became a grandmother Sept. 17, when a son, Philip Paul, was born to her eldest son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Worsnup Jr., who live with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jeffers, Route 83 (Schuylkill road), between Spring City and Phoenixville. The mother of the infant was the former Shirley Jeffers.

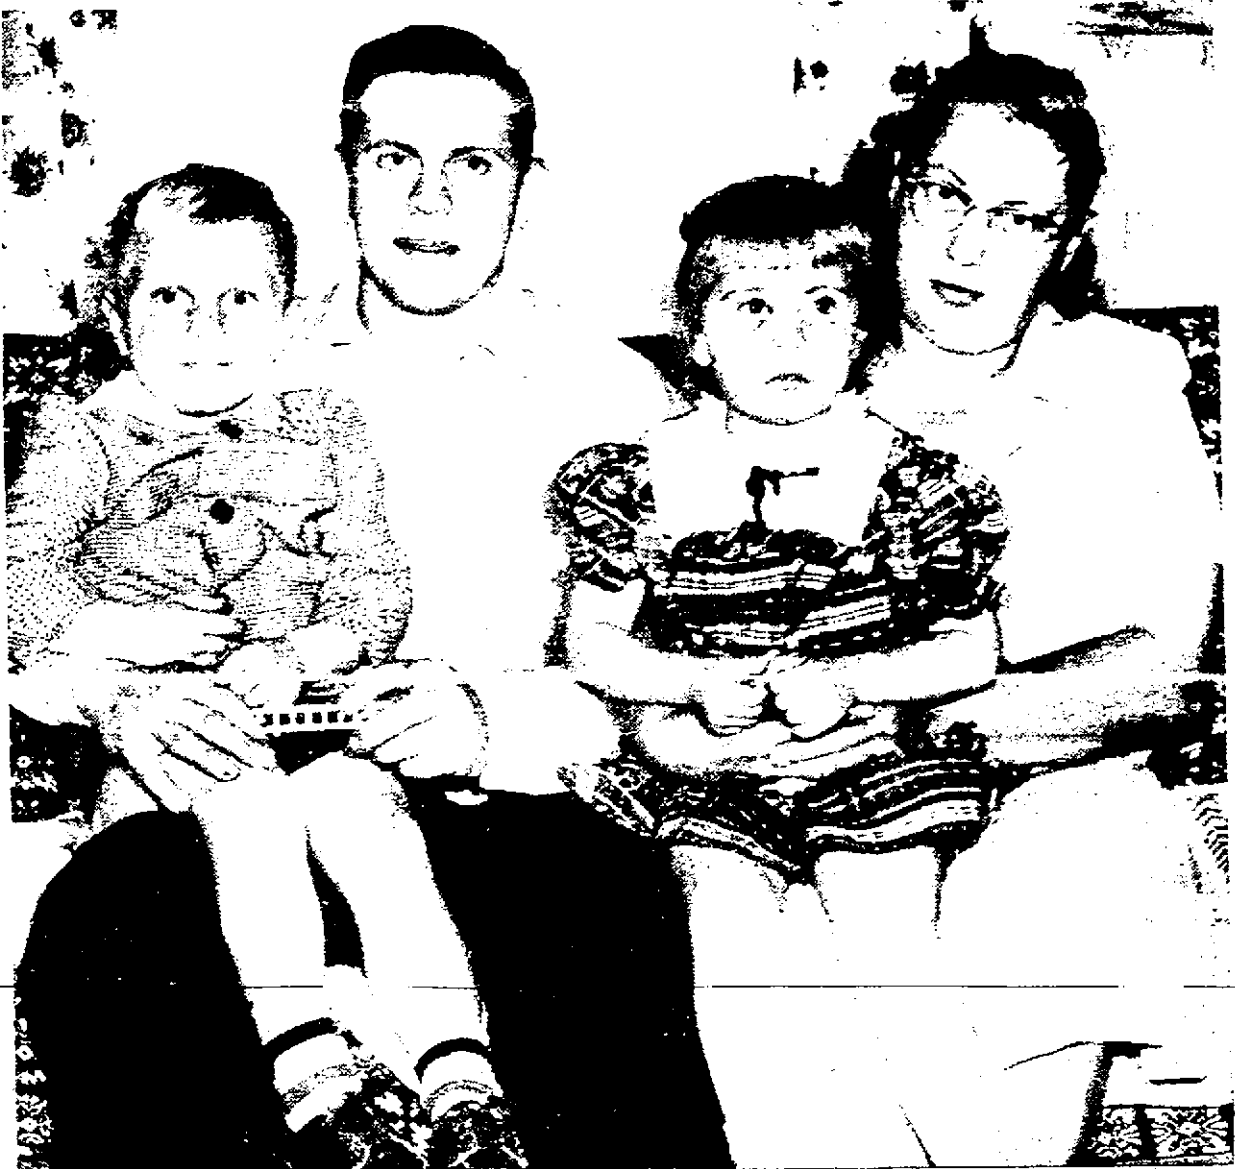

Other children of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Worsnup are James, 20, of 407 Queen street, Spring City; Janice, 19, and Linda, 4, of the Fourth avenue address in Royersford.

PHILIP JR., father of the infant, will be 22 Friday. He is employed at Cann and Steel company, Royersford. His father is a hosiery knitter at Apex Hosiery company, Spring City.

Asked how it felt to be a grandmother, Mrs. Worsnup replied, "Oh, just fine. I like children around." You see, she is a teacher in the beginning department of Royersford Baptist Sunday school.

Over the weekend, Mrs. Worsnup, two of her children, Janice and Linda, and her mother plan to visit Pittsburgh and Mrs. Worsnup's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Knox.

Twice a Grandmother at 37

Mrs. Leroy Strunk (right), Montgomery avenue, Royersford, is twice a grandmother at 37. She is shown holding one grandchild, Joyce Cutting, 3, while her son and the children's father, Douglas Cutting, holds the other grandchild, Ronald, 4. Mrs. Strunk, who celebrates her 38th birthday tomorrow, has no wish to play the part of an "old grandmother." She is too active a woman and has none of the white hair for the role.

A Royersford grandmother can look either way and see two generations. Mrs. Lillian (Bortman) Worsnup, wife of Philip H. Worsnup, North Fourth avenue, Royersford, counts five generations with her mother, grandmother, four children and a grandson. Mrs. Worsnup (top photo, third from left) rests between her grandmother, Mrs. Laura Bortman, 90, of 407 Queen street, Spring City, and her son Philip H. Worsnup Jr., Schuylkill road, Route 83. At extreme left is Mrs. Worsnup's mother, Stella Bortman, 66, also of 407 Queen street, Spring City. Philip Paul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Worsnup Jr., rests in his great-grandmother's arms. Mrs. Worsnup (lower photo left) poses with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Shirley Worsnup and grandson, Philip Paul.

Strategy Meeting Is Held by Group in United Fund Drive

A preliminary strategy meeting on how to conduct the advance gifts committee's part of Pottstown's first United Fund drive was held yesterday at the Fund headquarters, 361 High street.

Charles R. Wylie, committee chairman, said the meeting discussed who should be asked to serve on the committee, and who would be the key contributors to approach.

His committee will be in charge of soliciting industrial, corporate and executive gifts before the regular drive opens Oct. 27.

Advance gifts have in past years brought about 40 percent of the Community Chest's total. The United Fund, which includes agencies of the Chest it replaced, has a goal this year of $198,000.

Attending the meeting were Jacob R. Sotter, campaign chairman; Thomas A. McCaslin 3d, co-chairman of the classified division, and Carl M. Binder and H. L. Christman, Fund leaders who will serve on the committee, and Vinicio Fisher, executive secretary.

2 Accidents Take Mrs. Harry Sowers, Fender, Door Toll From Pottstown, Ill in Capital Hospital

No one was injured, but a few automobile fenders and doors were dented in two mid-day accidents in Pottstown yesterday.

The first mishap involved Mayberry E. Rhoads, Pottstown RD 2, and Aubrey Powell, Pottstown RD 1.

Rhoads said he stopped on the South side of Queen street, near Madison, to park his car, and, he was getting out. Powell's automobile, coming East on Queen, struck his left front door.

Alvin N. Williams, 710 Minter street, was involved in the second accident, when a Grubb Motor lines tractor-trailer, driven by John I. Hudson, of Lexington, N. C., backed into Williams' car.

Williams said he was traveling West on Walnut street, near Washington, when he saw the truck backing towards him. He made an attempt to stop but not before the left rear wheel of the larger vehicle had already hit his right front fender.

The truck driver said he did not know there was any one behind him until he felt the impact of the collision.

Mrs. Harry E. Sowers, former Pottstown resident, was reported in "unsatisfactory" condition in Polyclinic hospital, Harrisburg, last night following a possible cerebral hemorrhage suffered the past Saturday.

Mrs. Sowers, who moved with her husband from 36 West Fourth street to Harrisburg two months ago, was placed in an oxygen tent when admitted to the hospital, but removed from the tent Sunday.

A nurse said that though Mrs. Sowers was in an unsatisfactory condition she is "very much improved."

Physicians suspect a cerebral hemorrhage, but are awaiting the outcome of tests.

Bernadette Seavers Becomes Fall Bride Of James J. Heslin

The St. Aloysius Catholic church was decorated with ivy and white gladioli for the single ring ceremony uniting Miss Bernadette Seavers, daughter of Mrs. Anna Seavers, 96 South Madison street, and Mr. James J. Heslin, 67 King street, in marriage. The Rev. George P. Miller officiated.

Approximately 150 guests saw Miss Seavers approach the altar on the arm of her brother, Mr. David Seavers, who gave her away in marriage. Mrs. Gladys Swift, of Pottstown, provided organ music.

The bride was attired in a street length dress of slate blue lace. She wore a dusty rose velvet hat and gloves, and a corsage of stephanotis and white baby orchids.

MRS. RONALD BAUER, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She chose a champagne lace dress, also street length, with hunter green velvet accessories. She wore a corsage of green orchids.

Mr. Ronald Bauer performed the duties of best man.

The mother of the bride wore a gray crepe dress and a purple orchid.

A buffet supper was held at the Holy Trinity Catholic club. Ivy and Fall flowers decorated the hall and an orchestra provided music.

Mr. and Mrs. Heslin will reside at the home of the bride's mother after their marriage.

Guests attended the wedding from Philadelphia, Long Island, New York, Pottstown and the surrounding areas.

Mr. Heslin graduated from Pottstown Senior High school and is now employed at the Sandwich King luncheonette. Mr. Heslin is an employee of the Budd plant in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Heslin will reside at the home of the bride's mother after their marriage.

Guests attended the wedding from Philadelphia, Long Island, New York, Pottstown and the surrounding areas.

Gimbel's Club Room Is Meeting Scene For County Women

The Montgomery County Federation of Women's clubs held its first executive board meeting of the year in Gimbel's clubwomen's center, Philadelphia. Mrs. George M. Miller Jr., president, was in charge.

The meeting was opened by the salute to the flag and the reading of the poem "Teach Me To Serve" written by James E. Metcalfe and read by Mrs. M. Miller Jr.

Courses in many subjects are to be offered by Beaver college for adult groups if enough people are interested. It would be known as the Beaver Community project, and the classes would be held at night.

THE PRESIDENT of the federation attended a meeting in the office of mayor Clark of Philadelphia and received some informative data about the United Nations. She reported that United Nations week is Oct. 19 to 24. She also stated that the Women's clubs should stand in back of the UN and actively support it. Mrs. Harvey F. Mayers, international relations chairman, said that her department is planning a trip to the UN but no date has been set as yet.

A meeting for county and member club chairmen is to be held Oct. 10 at 1 o'clock in Gimbel's clubwomen's center.

Oct. 30 is the date of the Fall county meetings to be held in the Reformed church, Royersford. The hostess club is the Woman's club of Royersford, Mrs. Carl B. Merz, president.

Girl Scouts present were: Janice Bechtel, Barbara Boone, Judith Boyer, Joanne Geisler, Geraldine Harp, Janet Leberman, Yvonne Lucas, Evelyn Morrello, Judith and Mary Slaby, Doris and Barbara Chapman, Janice and Carol Weaver, Mary Ann Wayda, Charlotte and Sophie Widger and Judith Yost.

The leaders are Miss Eleanor Land, Miss Nancy Supplee and Miss Naomi Hartman.

CREWING GUM PROBLEM

To remove chewing gum from washable fabrics, chill with ice, remove as much as possible, then wash in warm or hot water.

HOW MUCH SOAP?

The amount of soap you use for washing shirts depends on the hardness of the water. Lightly soiled shirts washed in soft water (3 grains or less) will need approximately 1 cup of soap to 17 gallons of water. In water of average hardness (4 to 7 grains), use 1 1/4 cups to each 17 gallons of water.

Turpentine or benzine may be used to remove varnish stains; then wash fabric thoroughly.

Walnut Crossing Scene of Second Crash in 3 Days

The second accident in three days at Walnut street and Lewis road, Pottstown, resulted in minor damage to two sedans yesterday afternoon at 4:40 o'clock.

According to police, Joseph W. Noble, Philadelphia, driving a 1950 sedan west on Walnut street, stopped at the stop sign as a 1951 sedan driven by Lamar Sell, 834 Walnut street, going south on Lewis road, started a left turn into Walnut street. Noble, the police report said, started pulling out again before Sell's car completed the turn.

The left front headlight of the Philadelphia man's car was broken, causing $12 damage. The left rear fender of Sell's sedan was damaged to the extent of $55. Police Chief Bryson Turner handed the investigation.

PTA Group Told Consolidation Key

Royersford Parent-Teacher association got off to a good start for days for adult education evening the new season with some 300 at classes, leading the opening meeting last night in the high school auditorium.

After a brief business session, highlighted by a talk by Dr. O. C. Kuntzleman, supervising principal, the entire group visited class rooms. Members of the faculty were stationed in each room, met the parents personally and talked over school problems.

Dr. Kuntzleman said the name Royersford Parent-Teacher association might better be the Royersford School Community PTA since the local school district serves out of town pupils as well. "We have no geographical limitations," he added.

He said there were two projects which deserved serious thought. The educator stressed the problem of school consolidation, explaining that the local school district was host to eight other districts the past week to discuss consolidation. Another meeting is scheduled soon with Spring City, and subsequently other discussions with school authorities in adjacent townships.

Dr. Kuntzleman also told of the condition of the Adams grade school and the need for a new structure. He listed numerous improvements made during the summer months and announced that

Bible Lecture Series To Begin at Chapel

A special series of "Survival Through Faith" Bible lectures is scheduled to begin this weekend in Royersford, committee officials announced last night.

The lecture program is slated to begin Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock in the "Wayside Chapel," Upper Lewis road. Meetings have been scheduled every week for the rest of the year in the local auditorium.

Anthony W. Kaytor, director of the series, yesterday announced that T. Edgar Unruh, of Reading, chairman of the Eastern Pennsylvania committee, would be the keynote speaker Sunday.

Meetings will be held at the chapel, a converted school house. It was purchased and completely redecorated and renovated at a cost of several thousand dollars and will be used as the site of the Bible prophecy lecture program.

A STAFF OF ten has been named to assist the program beginning Sunday. These include T. E. Unruh, speaker for October; Anthony W. Kaytor, director and

Judge in Error, Freedom Is Won

CHICAGO, Sept. 29 (AP)—A convict who had served 23 years of a life sentence for murder won his freedom today because the trial judge made an error.

He is Patrick Joyce, 44, of Chicago. Joyce probably will not have to go to trial again, said Robert McDonnell, an assistant State's attorney. McDonnell told Circuit Judge Joseph Graber that attempts to locate witnesses who testified against Joyce in August, 1929, were fruitless.

Judge Graber nullified Joyce's conviction of Aug. 10, 1929, and dismissed the murder charge against him with leave for the prosecutor to have it reinstated if a new trial becomes possible.

Joyce was found guilty of the fatal shooting June 4, 1929 of policeman Earl K. Leonard.

At the end of the trial, the late Judge Frank Comerford, reading a form charge which was frequently used in criminal court, said, "if you regard yourselves as a better judge of law, you can disregard the court's instructions." This section of the charge was ruled unconstitutional in 1935 by the Illinois Supreme court.
